Anger at closure of walk-in clinic

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COUNCILLORS have slammed health chiefs for pressing ahead with plans to close a popular walk-in clinic.

NHS Suffolk's board decided at its recent meeting the Crown Health Centre in Haverhill would close in October, despite admitting consultation on the plan showed much support for it staying open.

Since it opened in 2009, the clinic has attracted 22,500 visits from more than 1,000 registered patients. However, health chiefs say it has not succeeded its objective of reducing visits to A and E departments and, at £1.2 million a year, is too costly to run.

Cllr Anne Gower, a county and borough councillor and chairman of ONE Haverhill, who is registered as a patient at the clinic, said: "When you look at the figures, they don't add up, but we did not get what we were promised in the first place. It is not surprising there is no impact on A and E when there are no x-ray and plastering facilities.

"What worries me is that people have got used to the flexibility of the Crown Centre, which suits their busy lives, so how are they going to replace that? What are you supposed to do at 8am on a Sunday morning when you have a poorly child? I think a lot of people will just get in their cars and go to A and E."

Crime prevention alert after burglars strike at allotments

ALLOTMENT holders have been warned to be on their guard after seven sheds were targeted by burglars.

Police have sounded the alert after padlocks were forced on the sheds at the Manor Road allotments in Haverhill between 11am on March 26 and 8am the following day. Nothing is believed to have been taken, but police have issued crime prevention advice to help protect property from theft.

Allotment holders are warned to put tools and equipment away – locking them to the fabric of the building if possible and, when away from the site for long periods, to remove all equipment.

Pc Michael Potter, of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, said: "They should also make sure sheds and out-buildings are locked when not in use – and use good quality locks and padlocks to secure doors.

"Most door hinges on out-buildings are exposed and easily removed by taking out the screws, but using strap hinges secured by coach bolts, with smooth heads that cannot be undone with a screwdriver or spanner avoids this.

"A strong pad bar fitted with a close-shackled padlock and secured with coach bolts is the most effective way to secure doors.

"Mark all equipment visibly with a postcode and attach a security marked label. Signs advertising the fact that your property is marked or your membership of a watch scheme will also deter criminals."

Anyone wanting security advice can contact the SNT team on 101.

Anger as walk-in centre to close after three years

'Duplicating services': The official opening of Crown Health Centre by then MP Richard Spring in 2009. It has been deemed 'not a good use of money'.

■ From front page statement saying councillors were very unhappy with the decision. It said: "The reasons for opening the centre in Haverhill still remain, including the fact there is no local hospital, there is a high level of attendances at A&E, and there are fewer community health facilities than elsewhere.

"We call on NHS Suffolk to explain how they intend to address these concerns, and to reassure residents who will be feeling anxious and abandoned by an organisation that exists to care for them.

"We also insist that Haverhill must be provided with the x-ray and other diagnostic facilities that have long been promised, and we need to know what resources are being given to our GPs to provide the extended and additional hours that will be needed in order to deal with the 22,000 consultations that will be displaced by the closure."

Dr Paul Watson, NHS Suffolk's

chief executive said: "The service provided by the Crown Health Centre is not provided anywhere else in West Suffolk. Annual running costs are £1.2 million and these costs were planned to be offset against a reduction in hospital A&E attendances. This hasn't happened and NHS Suffolk is faced with an increased cost. Additionally, there are projected costs of £500,000 to move the centre to a permanent location.

"In the current economic climate difficult decisions have to be made.

"With excellent local GP practices already providing medical services and pharmacies providing advice on self-care at home, the Crown Health Centre is duplicating services already available in the area and is not a good use of the money we have available.

"We will monitor the impact on GPs and provide support where needed."

A chance to question health chiefs on future

HEALTH chiefs could face a grilling on a town's diminishing health resources when they attend a public forum later this month.

The forum will discuss GP out-of-hours service provision and quiz health chiefs on plans to fill the gap left by the announcement of the closure of Crown Health Centre in October.

It will be hosted by the ONE Haverhill group at Samuel Ward Academy on Thursday, April 26 at 6.30pm and members of the public are welcome to attend.

The Public Forum is entitled The Future of Health Services In Haverhill, and guest speakers will include Martin Royal, Director of Corporate Services at NHS Suffolk; and Dr David Lee, Regional Medical Director for Harmoni, which manages Suffolk's GP Out of Hours Service.

Anne Gower, Chair of ONE Haverhill, said: "I would like to invite you all to attend the ONE Haverhill board public meeting to discuss what happens after the Crown clinic closes.

"Health services in Haverhill are something that affects each and every one of us at some time in our lives and it is important in the future we get the services we need and deserve.

Invitation: From Anne Gower

"This is your opportunity not only to discuss health issues but also to find out more about One Haverhill and what we are hoping to achieve for our town. Please come along and have your voice heard."

There will also be an opportunity to raise other public issues affecting Haverhill and to hear feedback from issued raised at the last forum in September.

ONE Haverhill is a board set up in 2011 to bring together stakeholders, including all three tiers of local government, the business sector, education, police, health and others, as one voice with the aim of improving the quality of life for people in Haverhill.

Community transport will be provided for people who cannot access public transport. Call (01440) 712028 to book, at least 24 hours before the event.

Fundraising disco to remember popular Lee

FRIENDS of a popular man who died from prostate cancer a year ago are holding a disco in his memory, with all proceeds to the hospice which cared for him in his last days.

Lee Barrett, who was 60 when he died, worked at several firms in Haverhill and was very well known in the town.

Friends have organised the memorial disco and a raffle on Saturday, April 14, from 8pm-1am at the Ex-Servicemen's Club in Haverhill. Organisers hope to raise as much as possible for the St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

Prizes for the raffle have been donated by local firms and include a flight for two in a light aircraft and a day at Newmarket races.

Tickets are £1, available from the Ex-servicemen's Club.

Music teacher goes out on a high note after 20 years

PUPILS sang their farewells to a music teacher retiring after almost two decades at their school.

A concert was staged at Kedington Primary School to say farewell to Hilary Shaw, who has taught there for nearly 20 years.

A spokesman for the school said: "Mrs Shaw has taught music to hundreds of children at Kedington for nearly 20 years, setting high standards and bringing smiles to so many with wonderful songs, concerts and musical productions. "We will all miss her passion for music."

Officer hurt during the arrest of a suspect

ANOTHER policeman has been injured while arresting a suspect in a town centre.

PC Rupert Beynon broke his finger when he rugby tackled a man suspected of drink driving in Haverhill town centre in the early hours of Sunday.

PC Michael Potter badly dislocated his shoulder last November, after being assaulted by a man he was arresting outside a town centre pub. He was off work for two months and is still only able to do light duties, although he hopes to return to normal duties in the next couple of weeks.

PC Beynon tackled a man who was attempting to run through an alleyway into Queen Street, after driving his car into a car park at speed and being stopped by other officers. The 20-year-old was the arrested for drink driving and obstructing a PC.

The injury means PC Beynon, who recently moved from Safer Neighbourhood Team to response team duties, is unable to drive or write. He is expected to be off work for some time and unable to return to full duties for at least six weeks.

Inspector Peter Ferrie, the town's sector commander, said: "He is in a lot of pain and it means I have lost an officer for a couple of months."

"Michael Potter was off for six months with the injury he received while arresting a man."

Teenager convicted of robbing youths at camp

A 16-YEAR-OLD convicted of robbing a group of teenagers has been sent to a young offender institution for two years.

The robber, who cannot be named for legal reasons, pleaded not guilty to three offences of robbery and one of attempted robbery, but was convicted after a trial at Ipswich Crown Court.

On Wednesday Judge John Devaux made the boy the subject of a 24-month detention and training order after taking into account a previous record of offending and the seriousness of the offences.

The court heard how a group of friends were camping on Bulls Field, close to the Samuel Ward Academy in Haverhill to celebrate a 15-year-old's birthday.

One victim told how he woke at about 3am on May 28 last year to find he was being attacked. Members of the group were also punched and told to hand over mobile phones and iPods.

The jury heard from the victims that despite almost total darkness they were able to identify the 16-year-old from his voice, as they all knew him.

Prosecutor Karl Volz said the boy warned he would "bottle" his victims if they failed to stay on the ground. Two mobile phones and an iPod were stolen, but another boy refused to comply with the robber's orders but did not lose any property.

After being arrested, the 16-year-old was alleged to have telephoned the mother of one victim and said: "I'll do it again if you want."

One of the alleged victims told the jury that all the members of their group, aged 15 and 16, had been drinking alcohol.

The 16-year-old admitted having been present on Bull Field but said he had been an innocent bystander rather than taking part in the alleged robberies and attempted robbery. But he accepted that he had thrown "one or two" punches during the incident.

Laura Kenyon, for the boy, told the court since being convicted he had expressed regret for his actions.

Lee starts his dream job . . .

POLICE Community Support Officer Lee Woodward has started his first beat in Haverhill, fulfilling his lifelong ambition to join the police force.

Lee, 26, who lives in Ipswich, has spent the past four years managing four leisure centres. Now he has taken over as the officer responsible for the Chalkstone estate and surrounding areas.

Lee said: "I have always wanted to join the police force, since the age of about 12. When this opportunity came up I grabbed it with both hands."

"I had never been here before, but it seems fine so far."

Anyone who wants to raise issues with Lee can contact him through the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team, by calling (01473) 613500.

Carer denies the murder of pensioner

A CARER has denied murdering a pensioner in his home. Paul Norfolk, 77, died from head injuries at home in Castle Lane, Haverhill, Suffolk, shortly after Christmas. His body was found when police entered his house after concerns were raised by neighbours. Officers also discovered Bunthawee Rimmer, 49, also of Castle Lane, badly injured inside. She was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital for treatment and arrested after being released from hospital. On Monday at Ipswich Crown Court, speaking through a Thai interpreter, Rimmer denied murder. She was remanded in custody until her trial beginning on July 2. The case is estimated to last for seven days.

Raider stole keys – and then the car

A SET of car keys were stolen in a burglary and used to steal a car parked outside the house. Between 10.30pm on Thursday, March 29, and 6.30am on Friday, March 30, a house in Bellings Road, Haverhill was entered, possibly via unsecured patio doors. Once inside a set of car keys were taken and used to steal a black VW Passat, registration NH08 FSN, parked outside the front of the house. Anyone who was in the area at night or in the early hours of the morning, who saw the car being taken or who has seen it since, or who has any information about the crime, should contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Police to deal with beggars and drinkers

STREET drinkers and beggars have been causing problems in a town centre street. Haverhill police have received a number of complaints about people drinking in the street, within the alcohol-free zone, and people begging for money in Queen Street, and in the library car park at Haverhill. Inspector Peter Ferrie, Haverhill's sector commander, said they would consider using anti-social behaviour orders if necessary to deal with the problem. He said: "We are very interested in hearing from any members of the public who have seen people begging or drinking in that area, particularly if they know the names of those involved. The more information we can get the better it is to deal with this." Anyone with information should call Haverhill police on 101.

Good Friday event to raise playgroup cash

A PLAYGROUP is aiming to stage its town's biggest ever egg hunt on Good Friday. The Friends of Sandcastle Playgroup will hide 300 eggs to find at Castle Manor School playing fields in Haverhill as part of a fundraising fete from 10am to 1pm. Tickets are 50p and the race to find the eggs begins at 10.30am. There will also be an Easter bonnet parade and a chance for children to decorate a giant egg, as well as a golden egg stall and an 'egg shy'. There is also a gigantic raffle, with 20 prizes donated by local businesses, including restaurant vouchers and cinema passes, as well as refreshments and face painting. Jennie Rose, one of the organisers, said: "It is our first one and we are trying to make it the biggest one in Haverhill. "We have received loads of prizes from local businesses and some of them will be promoting themselves at the event. "We are raising money to extend the playgroup's outside play area and to provide some shaded areas."

Burglary accused is remanded in custody

A MAN has pleaded not guilty to a charge of aggravated burglary and was remanded in custody until his trial next month. Lee Holland, 29, of Wellington Terrace, Haverhill, was charged after being detained by police in the town on January 19. It is alleged earlier the same day, Holland attempted to burgle a house in Clarendon Road, Haverhill. He appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on Wednesday, where he was told by Judge Peter Fenn he would continue to be remanded in custody until his trial, due to take place in May.

Prizes hidden for annual egg hunt

MORE than 600 wooden blocks have been hidden around a field in preparation for an annual egg hunt. The traditional Good Friday Egg Hunt will take place at the Great Meadow next to Kedington Community Centre at 2pm, with tickets on sale from 1.30pm. Children and adults can exchange blocks for eggs, with those finding gold blocks receiving large eggs. Special arrangements for under-6s have been made, so nobody will go home empty-handed. A raffle will be held and refreshments will be available.

Tools stolen from van then dumped in street

TOOLS stolen from a van were found later in a nearby street. Between 7am on Sunday, April 1, and 7am on Monday, entry was forced to the rear of an Iveco van parked in York Road, Haverhill. The tools were later found in Clements Drive. Also, in High Street, Haverhill, between 6pm on Friday, March 30 and 8am on Monday, catalytic converters were stolen from two minibuses parked in a yard.

School adds new chapter to story

KUNG Fu hamsters and flying pigs are the latest characters to be added to a travelling book, which is circulating round a group of primary schools. The torch book left New Cangle Primary School in Haverhill and arrived at Wickhambrook Primary, where pupils added their own chapter before sending it on to Thurlow Primary, then Clements Primary in Haverhill. Wickhambrook Year 2 teacher, Gemma Robertson, said: "Wickhambrook have had a good few days with the torch book. "They came up with some very creative ideas and enjoyed writing stories based on the ideas that they came up with as a class. After we had finished the torch book, the children enjoyed designing different characters in art and design. "They made Kung Fu hamster masks, flying pigs and Doughnut Man hats."We are now looking forward to reading the completed book". ■ See facing page.

'By working together, we can overcome challenges'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RAIL services, crime and the drought were among issues tackled by a county's public sector leaders at a meeting this week.

Leaders and chief executives from Suffolk County Council, all seven district and borough councils, Suffolk Constabulary, NHS Suffolk and Health East, came together at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill to agree on ways of working together to benefit Suffolk. They met to try to find solutions to some of the big issues facing the county.

At the meeting, they agreed to work together and lobby the region's new rail operator, Greater Anglia, on what its immediate priorities should be and the Government on what the rail service should look like in 15 years.

Also on the agenda was the consideration of how Suffolk's new police commissioner will be held to account and how the leaders will work with Anglian Water to conserve water and find long-term, sustainable solutions to maintaining the region's water supplies.

They also agreed to push forward and develop a new county-wide military covenant, which will set how Suffolk will honour and respect our servicemen and women.

Councillor Tim Passmore, leader of Mid Suffolk District Council and chair of the Public Sector Leaders group, said: "We've set ourselves a clear goal to work collectively to resolve some of the most important issues facing Suffolk, both in the short and long term.

"Helping Suffolk's economy to grow is a priority and planning the future of our essential public services, such as water supplies and the transport infrastructure, is fundamental to achieving that growth."

Councillor Mark Bee, Suffolk County Council's leader, said: "Public sector organisations need to work even closer now if we're to make the best use of the limited financial resources we have available.

"I think we owe it to residents and businesses to do everything we can to use our collective strength to make a difference. There are some big challenges we're all facing in Suffolk but if we work together, we can overcome them."

After the meeting, the leaders met with young people studying at Castle Manor to discuss their career plans and the role they see business skills playing in Suffolk's economy.

Madeline Vigar, Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College's principal, said: "Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College was delighted to host the public sector leaders meeting.

"Events such as this help students understand local and national decision-making processes."

Travelling book arrives at primary

PUPILS at Thurlow Primary School have been busy creating stories during their week with the Torchbook, a travelling book project.

Sandra Bottomley, from the school, said: "We enjoyed adding our chapter to the story so far."

"The children had loads of ideas about how to continue the story and were really excited to take the book to Clements Primary School in Haverhill and share the story with them."

"Children at Clements Primary had baked cakes for us and after a warm welcome and tour of the school we sat and ate cake and drank squash while listening to the story."

"Afterwards we had a lovely picnic lunch before returning to school. We can't wait to hear the completed story."

Taking delivery: the Torchwood book arrives at Thurlow Primary, and left, in the classroom.

Union hits out at plan to sell care homes for elderly

A UNION has slammed a county council decision to sell off its care homes to the private sector, saying it will leave vulnerable elderly people without a safety net.

The 35-bed Place Court home in Camps Road, Haverhill, will be transferred to an as yet unnamed private firm by Suffolk County Council, as well as Wamil Court in Mildenhall.

A 4,000 signature petition from Haverhill residents opposed to the move was presented to the council last year, but it has refused requests to discuss the issue with Haverhill Town Council, who had expressed an interest in taking over the home.

A total of 16 care homes across Suffolk will be taken over by a private contractor, chosen from 23 bidders, and to be named after councillors debate the issue on April 17.

A Spokesman for the union which represents many of them said: "UNISON is astounded by

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

the determination of the County Council to press ahead with plans to sell off Suffolk's Care Homes, despite the outpouring of public opinion against these proposals last year.

"We feel this flies in the face of the so-called 'public consultation' exercise and commitment to 'listening' to the views of the people of Suffolk."

"UNISON is concerned, not only for the 1,400 staff who will be forced to transfer to a new provider with potentially poorer terms and conditions, but also for Suffolk residents who will no longer have the safety net of Suffolk County Council should their care not be up to standard."

"We are also concerned about the cost of bringing these services back in-house if things go wrong, as has been the case in other parts of the country where this approach had been taken as a cost-saving exercise."

Councillor Colin Noble, Portfolio Holder for Adult and Community Services said councillors visited homes run by the company and found facilities exceeding those in Suffolk.

He added: "We need to be sure the provider we select is the one that can offer the most to the people of Suffolk that have the most complex of care needs."

"We anticipated by 2030 the number of older people and those suffering with dementia in the county will double. This process has always been about identifying a provider that will bring the necessary investment and additional expertise to the county."

"To tackle the significant increase in demand for services we are developing a new approach to service delivery which focuses on prevention and intense short-term care, helping people remain healthy and independent longer."

"However, we must make sure that for those needing the most intense care they get a high quality service in fit for purpose facilities."

Referendum on the High Street

Sir, I write as a member of the general public with regards to the aspect of whether Haverhill High Street should be pedestrianised. The way forward with this question is to have a referendum (town poll). A town poll can be called for by 10 registered electors of Haverhill attending a meeting of the town council.

The town council can also put this referendum (town poll) in place anyway.

The question to be asked in the first poll should be 'should Haverhill High Street be pedestrianised', with a choice for the electors to answer yes or no.

This guarantees that only Haverhill residents have a say in regards to the pedestrianisation of the High Street and does away with anybody outside of the town trying to sabotage efforts to have the High Street pedestrianised.

Hopefully if the majority of answers are yes then Suffolk County Council will have to sit up and take notice and if they fail to do so, then I can envisage some people walking the plank, so to speak.

In the meantime, in my opinion, no refurbishment of Haverhill High Street should take place until the outcome of the referendum (town poll).

Don't believe all of this!

Sir, The government said fill up in case of a petrol strike and within hours the pumps were dry.

If a minister were to say on Monday 'bread may be short on Wednesday', by Tuesday evening supermarkets and shops would have no bread.

A newsreader tells us the economy has shrunk by 0.1% and Britain may slide into succession, doom and gloom is in the air, although 99.9% of the people have no idea what it means.

That includes me.

A minister tells us owing to decimal points being wrongly placed we are not billions of pounds in debt, in fact we are 100 billions in the black. Joy and happiness spreads all around, no wonder the governments of the world do not tell us that UFOs exist.

Half of the people would panic the other half would be aliens. I hope nobody believes all this otherwise I'll be blamed for causing another panic.

Haverhill

Frustration in hunt for work

Sir, I wonder how many readers are, like me, finding it very frustrating in trying to find employment in Haverhill. I have been with one local employment bureau for over a year and because I never hear from them, I called in to see if they were still in existence and was curtly told "we expect to hear from you, not the other way round."

I joined another local bureau three months ago and in spite of lots of promises, I have heard nothing. It's interesting that their windows are full of job vacancies in foreign languages.

Another bureau never answers my emails and when I explained my difficulties getting employment, I was greeted with lots of laughter from one of the female staff.

When I applied to a small local garage the father of the proprietor said "you're even older than me" but of course, did not put this in writing, but said I lacked experience - I have worked in the motor trade since I was 16! I have tried the local Aldis and William Hill as well as several factories and even the delivery round for the Weekly News!

It is fashionable nowadays to say the unemployed are lazy, but I can assure your readers that I would love the chance to do a full week's work every week again.

Youngsters have smashing time at egg hunt

YOUNGSTERS hunted for eggs before putting on Easter bonnets at an event on Saturday.

Children from the Stepping Stones group in Haverhill enjoyed an Easter Fun Day, where they were joined by parents for an Easter Hat Parade and an egg hunt. There was also a raffle and refreshments for sale, while the children could colour in Easter pictures or play. There were Easter tattoos for the children too.

Haverhill Town Mayor Maureen Byrne and Claire Bowden, Tesco Community

Champion, judged the Easter Hats and the winners were: Georgia Hammond, Ellie Blackman and Tom Connolly.

Elaine McManus, leader of the group, said: "Big thanks to Claire for donating the Easter eggs for the hat parade and thanks to the Mayor for attending.

"All the children were winners as they all took chocolate eggs home after they had hunted for eggs. A great time was had by all and thanks go to the parents for supporting this fun day."

The group has a waiting list for places in September. Call (01440) 712247.

Inquest hears of dad's death on motorbike

A SON has told an inquest how he was riding ahead of his father, who died when his motorcycle was involved in a crash on a country road.

Father-of-three David Burwash 50, was thrown into a hedge beside the B1060 at Great Wratting, near Haverhill, following an impact with a van.

An inquest on Tuesday, April 3, at Bury St Edmunds heard a doctor who arrived with the air ambulance declared Mr Burwash dead at the scene on October 4 last year.

Mr Burwash, of Pannells Ash, Ashen, had been returning from a trip to North Norfolk with his son Darren. Also riding with them when the accident happened were the two sons of Mr Burwash's partner.

In a statement, Darren Burwash said he was leading the group and had just rounded a bend between Thurlow and Great Wratting when he looked back but could not see his father. A white van had pulled onto the verge and Mr Burwash said he realised something was wrong. He went back along the road to find his father in a hedge, after being thrown from his motorcycle.

Van driver Sebastian

Gumoski said he had seen an oncoming motorcycle, which appeared to be going out of control. It came across onto his side of the road and struck the side of the van.

A post mortem examination showed Mr Burwash had as a result of multiple organ injuries.

The inquest heard police examination of the motorcycle and the van found no defects which could have contributed towards the accident.

Police accident investigator Pc Andrew Fossey said it appeared Mr Burwash had lost control of his bike, but the reason why could not be established. Mr Burwash had been riding motorcycles for 30 years.

Assistant Suffolk Coroner Daniel Sharpstone recorded a verdict of accidental death.

With the thanks of our successful students, this is what they have to say about us:

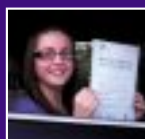

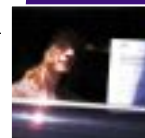

"The best thing I decided to do was learn to drive, and learning with Jeff made the experience far more enjoyable because I was learning in a relaxed atmosphere and everything was taught to me in a way I needed to learn and at my own pace :)" Lucy H

"Just seen the mini in front of my bus :) got insurance on the van which was a surprise so I'm on the road as of tonight thank you so much for teaching me you knew exactly what I had to work on and always made sure I understood why I was doing certain things cheers Jeff." Jake D

"Thanks to Jeff at Freedom, he helped me get my driving licence, I'd been driving for 10 years with other instructors & had lost my confidence. I did get there because Jeff showed me how to believe in myself & taught me how to deal with different scenarios on the road. Jeff helped change my life for me & my little girl." Dee S

"When I started learning with Jeff I had gone to him already having failed three tests. I had a short time to pass as my theory was going to expire. Jeff got me ready for my test and passed with flying colours I passed scoring only around 4 minors. As a driving instructor I would say he is the best and would recommend him to anyone. His teaching methods are brilliant and has so much experience and knowledge to give. If he can help me to pass he can help anyone. Trust me." Tom R

"I'd just like to say that I really enjoyed my driving lessons as they were tailored to me rather than just having set things to do each lesson. I wouldn't have wanted to learn with anyone else, you really made me feel like I had achieved something great!" Sophie W

Togas are in for night out

PYJAMAS and bunny ears will be left at home this year as women taking part in a moonlight charity walk dress up as goddesses in the year of the London Olympics.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is inviting all participants of its annual women-only moonlight walk, Girls Night Out, to dress up as goddesses, reminiscent of Olympic ceremonies past.

Women from all over West Suffolk and Thetford are invited to find their inner goddess and adorn white togas, laurel leaves, gold jewellery and – most importantly – a pair of comfy trainers, to walk the 11.2 or six-mile route.

Girls Night Out will see hundreds of women depart Angel Hill on Saturday, September 15, for the fundraising moonlight walk along the streets of Bury.

Kevin Clements, director of fundraising and marketing, said: "In this special year of national pride and the fourth year of the Girls Night Out fundraising event, we thought what better way to mark this special year than to invite women to dress as goddesses.

"Everyone registering will be provided with a specially designed T-shirt, too, in case they don't fancy wearing a toga. Taking part is the most important thing."

In 2011, 700 women took part in Girls Night Out, including a team from Haverhill, raising more than £100,000 and making it the most successful fundraising event in the charity's history.

This year it is hoped to smash that total, so more women are encouraged to get on board and sign up. Registration opened on Friday, with registration forms available from the hospice, all the hospice shops and online at www.stnh.org.uk.

Registration normally costs £15, including a T-shirt, but early birds can take advantage of a special sign-up offer of £10 for all registrations before May 31, 2012. For more information, contact Jenny on 01284 715583, or email fundraising@stnh.org.uk

Haverhill Townswomens Guild:
The March meeting of the guild was the AGM when the committee was elected en bloc with an additional new committee member, Jackie Lawrence. The chairman thanked the committee for supporting her and for all their hard work over the year. Guild members brought photos of themselves when young. The pictures were identified only by a number and the winner was Betty Fowler. Arrangements were made for a quiz evening on June 27 and it was agreed that any profit made would be in memory of Norma Poole and sent to St Nicholas Hospice. Leisure suggestions were a mystery trip in the summer, a possible outing to Otley Hall, outings to Norwich, Ipswich and Cambridge theatres. The federation AGM and lunch is on April 25 and it is requested that members attending wear red, white and blue. The chairman read out the speakers for the coming year and thanked Jan Jennings for arranging these as all the speakers she has found are all very interesting. The next guild meeting is on Tuesday, April 24, at the West End Hall, Withersfield Road, at 7.15pm. New members or guests will be very welcome. Just turn up or call Mrs Hampson on 01440 714730.

Hundreds gather at clergyman's funeral

BY ALICE HUTTON

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE funeral of a former Haverhill clergyman found stabbed to death in the hallway of his home took place on Saturday.

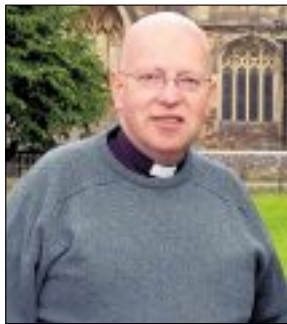

Hundreds of people gathered to pay their respects to the Rev John Suddards, who served as rector for five churches in the area, including Great Yeldham, for a decade.

The 59-year-old former barrister who studied law at Trinity Hall in Cambridge, was found dead on St Valentine's Day in the vicarage of St Mary's Church in Thornbury, Gloucestershire, where he was installed as priest last year.

The news of his death sent shockwaves through the clergy and close-knit community in both his newly adopted home town 11 miles from Bristol, and Great Yeldham, where tributes were paid to the intelligent and dedicated preacher.

Among the mourners were the Bishop of Colchester as well as clergy and friends from his former parishes.

So many people attended that loudspeakers relayed the near two-hour long communion service to members of the congregation gathered outside in the churchyard in Castle Street.

Earlier this month his sister, Hilary Bosworth, said it was fitting for the funeral to be held in St Mary's, just a short distance from the vicarage.

She said: "He had been made most welcome to Thornbury by the clergy, the school and the whole community."

"He was my only sibling, a dear brother and much-loved uncle to my three children. We miss his warm smile, his wisdom and his wicked sense of humour."

She said he would be greatly missed but the family had been heartened by the many tributes paid to her brother.

Pat Slimming, chairman of Great Yeldham Parish Council, kept in touch with Mr Suddards after he left the village but was not able to attend the funeral, and told the Weekly News: "He was an exceptional man."

"I am not surprised so many people came - he touched a lot of people and it was a fitting tribute."

Mr Suddards had only taken up his post last July, having moved from the Diocese of Chelmsford in Essex.

Stephen Farrow, 47, has been charged with the murder of Mr Suddards and also that of retired teacher Betty Yates, 77, in Bewdley, Worcestershire.

Farrow was arrested on February 19 in Folkestone, Kent, following a tip-off from the public after police launched a nationwide manhunt.

Mrs Yates was found dead at the bottom of the stairs at her home on the banks of the River Severn on January 4, having been killed two days earlier.

Mr Suddards was rector for Great Yeldham from 1993 to 2003 before moving to Witham, Essex, and then Gloucestershire last June.

Chimney catches fire

A CHIMNEY caught alight after a blockage got caught in the pipe. One crew of firefighters from Haverhill were called to an address in High Street, Castle Camps, at 1.25pm on Saturday.

They extinguished the accidental blaze by dismantling the wooden burner and using a nine metre ladder to pour water down the chimney before breaking up the blockage.

They returned to their station by 2.50pm.

Man to face rape trial

A MAN will stand trial accused of raping a woman in Haverhill. Gary Beal, 43, pleaded not guilty at Ipswich Crown Court on Friday to rape, sexual assault and false imprisonment. All the offences are alleged to have involved the same woman and to have taken place on June 18 last year in Haverhill.

The Bury Road, Thurlow resident was told by Judge Peter Thompson that he would continue to be granted bail until his next court appearance.

The trial, which is expected to last for up to five days, is due to begin on July 16.

Sun helps us look forward

How wonderful that as I write my column this month, I can see people out enjoying the unexpected sunshine.

It's hard to imagine that only a few weeks ago Haverhill was still covered in snow!

The warm weather has left me looking forward to what promises to be a memorable summer in Haverhill.

As well as the usual exciting programme of outdoor activities, the town council and partners are putting together some special events to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee over the first weekend in June, and the Olympic Torch Relay is coming to Haverhill on July 7.

Isn't it wonderful that the torch route organisers have seen sense and nominated Caroline Maclean and Isabelle Gower to carry the torch through their home town?

The town council was among those who wrote to the organisers to ask for this and it shows how a strong local campaign can have an effect.

The route will be made all the more attractive by the work of Haverhill in Bloom – a big 'well done' to you, we recognise and support the wonderful displays you provide for us in our town.

Last month I attended an event to launch the route the torch will follow through the town, along with fellow councillors and pupils from Burton End Primary School.

I hope to see as many as possible of you out on the streets on July 7 – so let's put Haverhill on the Olympic map.

I was at Burton End Primary again a week later, taking part in their 'Global Week', when the pupils were learning about the roles and positions of people from the local community.

I was so impressed at how keen they were to learn – if they were half as inspired by me as I was by them, the mayor's role will be safe in their hands in years to come.

Everyone who knows me will know how much I love children, so it was a pleasure to be at three more events in their company in March.

I went to see the Stepping Stones group to watch the under-5s making ceramic tiles as presents for Mothers' Day. I visited Couplars Primary School and read to two classes during World Book Week, and I was pleased to see older pupils from Castle Manor supporting their studies outside school hours at a performance of The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The play reflects on working life in hard economic times – very apt at the moment!

Of course, it's not just the financial situation that is worrying people at the moment. I am just as concerned about changes to local services, especially in health and social care locally.

The town council continues to campaign on your behalf on the future of Place Court Residential Care Home and the Crown Health Centre.

We will do all we can to make sure the services they provide are protected, and you can do your bit by attending the next ONE Haverhill public forum meeting at 6.30pm on Thursday, April 26, at Samuel Ward Academy.

One of the themes for the meeting will be health and local representatives will be there to hear your views.

Life certainly isn't easy for many of us with the economy yet to show any real signs of recovery, but I am confident that Haverhill is in a better position than many towns to look forward to a bright future.

Last week I went along to the launch of a new business providing care services locally, and it reinforced my view that the town has a stronger entrepreneurial spirit than most – we really are the engine room for the local economy.

We have some excellent opportunities at the moment to support our spirit of enterprise well into the future, not least with the consultation on the Borough Council's 'Haverhill Vision 2031' which will guide development in the town for the next 20 years.

Have your say at www.st Edmundsbury.gov.uk/vision2031 or call 01284 757368 to find out more.

I know it's not the most exciting of topics on the face of it, but the Vision will help to determine things like the level and location of housing, schools, health services and businesses and it's vital that we as a town make our voice heard so that life and work are properly catered for over the next decade.

Enough of the lecturing, I'll let you get back to the sunshine!

MAYOR'S VIEW

by Cllr Maureen Byrne, mayor of Haverhill

Get set for a quacking time at 10th race

FAMILIES are set for a 'quacking' time at the tenth annual duck race in Kedington. The number of ducks used in the event has been increased over the years from 300 to 600, usually with all being sold at £1 each by the start time.

Organiser John Pelling said: "The race has been timed at over 90 minutes – the slowest – to just over half an hour – the record, though the course varies according to water flow in the river.

"Prizes are £25, £15 and £10, and last year all three winners were children's ducks.

"We always have a risk assessment made by an experienced person and spectators are accompanied by six marshals equipped with two-way communications.

"As ever, a police presence will be requested so that the road crossing is monitored at Silver Street as spectators move towards the finish below the weir on Great Meadow.

"There will be a barbecue with soft drinks available on the meadow." The race will be held on Monday, May 7, in aid of Kedington Church Restoration Fund.

Thieves steal panels from flatbed truck

A DRIVER discovered thieves had stolen both the sides of his truck.

Police in Haverhill are appealing for information after the flatbed was robbed of the drop sides some time between 9.30pm on Wednesday, March 29 and 6.40pm the following morning.

Two long silver aluminium panels marked with safety warning stickers were removed from the Ford Transit parked in Spindle Road.

Any calls should be made to PCSO Leslie Scott, quoting crime number HH/12/685 on 101, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Beauty students are brushed with success

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

EXOTIC body painting put beauty therapy student Clair Louise Gale and model Theresa Foddering on the winning team at a hair and beauty festival.

The pair, both from Haverhill, won the body painting section with the theme of 'celebrations' at the annual festival at West Suffolk College.

The event was a spectacle of imaginative and exotic hairstyling and make-up and is a showcase for inspiring work from up-and-coming professionals. It was well supported by local employers and hairdressing and beauty suppliers, who sponsor the competition and provide prizes.

The final parade of entrants, with some breathtaking hair and creative makeup, was followed by presentations.

There were 18 individual competitions, with awards covering every level of achievement, from 14- to 16-year-old School Link students working on model heads to the beauty therapy team body painting event, won by an extravagant interpretation of Mardi Gras.

Beauty judge Denise Lilly, a freelance make-up artist, said the standard of make-up and body painting she judged was as good as the work she sees at fashion shows for Versace and Prada.

Tracey Marshall, head of the school of hairdressing, beauty and holistic therapies, congratulated her students on the extremely high standard of work they produced.

She said: "I am extremely proud to see how determined these young people are to compete at this level.

All had competed in heats to qualify for a place in the competition and worked hard to produce hair-styles, make-up and well-designed costumes to complement the theme of the competition."

"It is an essential part of the students' development to take part in competitions. This is a competitive industry and this annual event raises the aspirations of our students to succeed in their chosen profession."

"We endeavour to provide good traditional pub grub with access to quality wines at affordable prices in pleasant rural surroundings"

Facebook, the social networking service and website launched in February 2004. As of July 2011, Facebook has more than 750 million active users. Users may create a personal profile, add other users as friends, and exchange messages, including automatic notifications when they update their profile. Facebook users must register before using the site. Additionally, users may join common-interest user groups, organized by workplace, school or college, or other characteristics. Facebook was founded by Mark Zuckerberg with his college roommates and fellow computer science students Eduardo Saverin, Dustin Moskovitz and Chris Hughes. A January 2009 Compete.com study ranked Facebook as the most used social networking service by worldwide monthly active users, followed by MySpace.

In recent years more and more people have used the social networking site as a platform to promote their businesses through "Pages" and "Groups". Business owners are now using "updates" to keep their members informed of the latest information about their business. Below are nine local businesses doing just this – "like" or "join" their pages to be kept up to date with the latest products, services and promotions on offer.

Two counties fire services in merger talks

MERGER talks have been opened between Suffolk and Cambridgeshire's fire services.

The drawing up of an initial business case for the union was discussed by Cambridgeshire's Fire Authority on Friday, following the creation last year of the UK's first shared control room in Huntingdon, which saved £800,000.

The link-up is being considered because of the need to save millions of pounds because of Government cuts but Neil Newberry, Cambridgeshire's assistant chief fire officer, said it just one of many options.

He said: "We have to be realistic and it is possible that the next comprehensive spending review in 2015 could result in a further round of deep cuts to the public sector."

"Therefore, we have an

BY CHRIS HAVERGAL

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

obligation to make long-term plans in order to protect the frontline service that we provide to the public.

"As part of these plans we are exploring a number of options that have the possibility to make large-scale savings over the next decade. Merging the service fully with Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service is just one of these options."

The Cambridgeshire service has already agreed to save £4.2 million by axing 60 jobs, including 30 fire fighting posts, but fears a further £1.8 million could be cut from its budget and has warned emergency response times could suffer if that happens.

Kevin Napier, Cambridgeshire secretary of the Fire Brigades Union, said it had always been thought that the creation of the shared control room could lead to a full merger.

He said: "Any efficiency savings have got to be at the top because no further cuts can be made to the frontline. We are already cut to the bone."

"I would hope that, if a merger was to take place, we wouldn't need two chief fire officers, we wouldn't need two senior management teams, and we would have great purchasing power, and that's where I would hope the savings could be found."

"As long as there is no detrimental effect on frontline services we probably wouldn't be opposed."

On Friday the authority deferred approval of the start of work on an outline business case until the next meeting.

It is expected any merger would need parliamentary approval, and the earliest date it could be expected to happen is April 2014.

Golfers tee off for hospice fundraiser

GOLFERS in Haverhill were in full swing when they raised £2,500 for charity and a life-saving defibrillator.

The event was organised by Haverhill Golf Club and Haverhill District Rotary Club for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Michael Morris, Rotary Club president, said: "The day had a pleasant but competitive atmosphere. We had businesses and individuals taking part and everyone enjoyed themselves."

The Rotary Club has been fundraising for the hospice for many years and has raised thousands of pounds for the charity.

Michael said: "We support St Nicholas Hospice Care because we know that it does a lot of work in Haverhill caring for people in their homes. It is a worthwhile cause and people are very willing to make an effort and contribute to any collections we have for them."

The golf day also raised funds for a defibrillator for the golf club.

A cheque for £2,500 was presented to Liz Spillane, community fundraiser, on Monday last week.

Thieves take wallet after house break-in

A WALLET containing a small amount of cash was taken in an evening burglary from a house.

Police are appealing for information following the break-in which happened between 8.30pm and 9pm on Sunday, March 25 at an address in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill.

Thieves took a wallet containing a small amount of cash from a coat pocket, following a search of the property.

Anyone with any information should contact DS Ann Naylor on 101, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

History's darkest lesson

More than one million people died in the Nazi death camps in Auschwitz. A group of schoolchildren visited Poland with The Holocaust Educational Trust to learn from the past. Reporter ALICE HUTTON joined them.

OSWIECIM looks like a nobody town. Small and grey with 40,000 residents, it squats bleakly in the countryside an hour or so from Krakow; its quiet, dusty streets riddled with KFCs, Lidl supermarkets and cranes at odds with the searing sunshine.

Residents crouch in bus shelters with cracked glass and the grim Sola and Vistula rivers run slickly past choked with silt.

And yet it is and will always be infamous – under the better-known Germanic name of Auschwitz.

It was here, just a few kilometres away, that an estimated 1.3 million people were murdered by the Nazis during the Second World War.

And the rivers, which look like they're clogged with mud, are actually covered in carpets of dumped human ashes.

One of the surprising parts of the educational charity's Lessons from Auschwitz journey for post-16 schoolchildren was that there is still a town here at all.

Who would be prepared to live in that shadow on a daily basis?

Every year 250,000 visitors, and Chilling legacy: thousands of pairs of shoes, taken from prisoners destined for the gas chambers, are stacked in piles at Auschwitz. Above, piles of luggage remain unclaimed.

growing, either sombrely walk their bleak streets like they are a museum filled with unspeakable nightmares or bypass it completely and stop just five minutes outside to see the source of the horror, Auschwitz-Birkenau; the concentration, death and labour camps which collectively ended the lives of more than a million Jews.

And yet, until the German invasion in 1939 the thriving Jewish community in this town numbered 7,000, making up 58 per cent of the population.

Today there are none.

The last Jewish resident, Simon Kluger, was the sole representative from 1962 until he died in 2000, living there in what some interpret as an act of defiance against the regime that tried and failed to kill him.

He lies in the only correctly marked plot in the town's Jewish cemetery where hundreds of gravestones were dug up to use for roads by the Nazis, who then killed most of the people who would remember where to put them back.

But that is partly what today is about – and why the trust runs a project dedicated to encouraging students and teachers to personalise Holocaust history and see the people behind the atrocities.

After we drive into the concentration camp of Auschwitz 1 by the coach load with pupils from across the whole region, including students from Samuel Ward Academy, in Haverhill, our group leader David Jones, a former teacher from Manchester, reminds us: "The town's residents live every day with this terrible history, because it is living history."

"We are here to learn how to re-humanise not only the victims, but also the perpetrators and the bystanders in Oswiecim who watched more than half their neighbours disappear and did virtually nothing."

When we step under the wrought

Reflection: Stephen Perse student Kate Williams reads a poem. Left, photographs of some of the thousands of prisoners who passed through Auschwitz's gates.

iron motto of the Arbeit Macht Frei gate ('work makes you free') where prisoners arrived to the falsely cheerful sounds of orchestras, whatever chatter there was drops away and the students walk under clouds of virtual silence.

We enter a seemingly never-ending series of buildings filled with material carefully gathered by the Soviets when they liberated the camp in January 1945.

To say the first room was a shock is a gross understatement and it shows in the eyes of the students.

It is packed to the ceiling with piles of rotting human hair hacked off women by Nazis who then used the locks to make carpets.

Room two is crammed with battered suitcases with the names and birth dates of their owners painted in swirling script – for when they hoped they would collect them. Stacks of tumbling, scuffed shoes fill a third and next to it is a mound of spectacles with twisted frames.

The children shuffle uncomfortably, cameras around necks.

Another cavernous place is covered in pots and pans brought by people who believed they might actually need them.

Shaving equipment, shoe polish, nail clippers, children's toys, sacred prayer shawls; these items show that whoever was brought here either did not know or did not believe they would be murdered. Anna Kusak, our guide, stops.

"This is one of the worst for me," she says.

False legs, false arms, back braces.

"Some of these were taken from soldiers who fought for their country and were injured in the First World War, and were then killed a few years later."

The day continues in a blur.

We walk past the 'hospital' where Dr Josef Mengele conducted fatal experiments on dwarfs, twins and disabled people without anaesthetic.

Another corridor is filled with mug-shots taken of the first prisoners to arrive – before the Nazis gave up on the excessive 'admin' it caused.

The inside of a wooden door of an underground cell for solitary confinement has fingernail marks raked down it. Finally, we file into the only gas chamber not blown up by the Nazis – with holes in the ceiling where cyanide was released in false shower fittings.

Afterwards Sarah McGregor, of Sawtry Community College, says quietly: "I closed my eyes and tried to imagine not coming out."

"I just couldn't manage it."

The 17-year-old adds: "No one here has any words about what we're seeing today."

Jess Stewart, 17, from Hills Road Sixth Form College, in Cambridge, talks about how strange it was to tell her family where she was going.

"My sister didn't know what to say to me," she admits uneasily. "You can't say 'good luck', or 'have a good time'."

"There was no proper way to describe where I was going."

If Auschwitz 1 felt like a museum, then Auschwitz Birkenau, the death camp which smothers 420 acres with a forest of barracks, is surreal in its historical accuracy.

About 90 per cent of the buildings are original and look exactly as they did when they were used for one of the most coldly, systematic mass exterminations in the world.

As the sun sets and the temperature plummets, we file into barracks, past guard towers and blown-up gas chambers, with a freedom very few in this camp knew.

Auschwitz is a graveyard without any graves.

If you held one minute's silence for every person who perished here you would be silent for three years.

But 90 per cent of the SS who worked here have not been brought to justice. They have died – or will die – free men.

And all the time, the number of witnesses is dwindling, with many of the youngest now turning 70.

Solemnly Mr Jones turns and issues a warning to all of us: "It is no use saying the Nazis were psychopaths."

"Because if they were what hope would there be for the future?"

"We could then sit back and say 'it will never happen again'."

"They were not monsters, they were human beings who walked out at the end of the day and read their children bedtime stories."

"Never forget – we brought you here to try to understand them better and make sure history doesn't repeat itself."

"It is called the Lessons from Auschwitz for a reason."

Lifetime experience for young dancers

YOUNGSTERS got to follow in the footsteps of many famous dancers when they performed at the one of the country's leading dance houses, Sadler's Wells.

The Lisa Mason School of Dance from Haverhill was one of 10 dance schools from around the country who were invited to take part. Each school performed two routines and participated in a group finale, which consisted of 420 dancers.

After travelling to London, the dancers had rehearsals and photograph sessions ahead of them before the big show in the evening.

It was a wonderful theatre experience, where the dancers got to go backstage and see and experience the workings of such a huge and prestigious dance venue.

Lisa Mason said: "The day gave each and every child an experience they will remember for the rest of their lives."

"It was an amazing privilege for us to have such an opportunity at Sadler's Wells, where many famous dancers and dance companies have performed. The girls all danced beautifully, enjoyed every minute of their experience and looked stunning in their costumes. I am extremely proud of them all, they all worked really hard and gave it their best on the night."

The dancers aged 7 to 14 performed two routines – the first a classical ballet dance from Sleeping Beauty and the second a tap dance number from Bugsy Malone.

Anyone wishing to join the school or wanting information on children or adult classes, should call Lisa on (01440) 760821, or 07958 788292 or visit www.lisamason.co.uk

Private firm to run range of health services

A PRIVATE company has been picked to provide a range of Suffolk's community health services.

Serco will take over the provision of specialist children's services and adult community services, across most of the county by October.

It will act as a contractor and deliver services in partnership with organisations including the South Essex Partnership University NHS Foundation Trust.

Tracey Lambert, Unison eastern region's head of health, said: "Yes, they will have a duty to provide patients with care when and where they need it, but let's not forget this is a private, profit-driven organisation and its sole purpose is to make money for shareholders."

"It's inevitable there will be cuts in order to ensure those shareholders' pockets are being lined."

A spokeswoman for Serco said whether a private, public or third sector organisation was providing the services, the same standards would be applied to measure the performance of each.

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

She said: "It does not matter whether you are a private sector provider or a public sector provider, it's all about delivering a high quality service."

Dr Paul Watson, chief executive of NHS Suffolk, said the services would remain a part of the NHS contract.

He said: "We have been determined to find the very best organisation to manage these community services in the future to provide benefit and opportunity to our patients and staff."

"Serco has been carefully selected and has provided us with a detailed proposal, giving rigorous evidence of its experience as a service provider and its vision and innovative plans for further improving our community services.

"We are confident it will ensure our patients continue to receive well-managed, effective services, with a constant focus on improving quality and delivering value for money for the taxpayer."

NHS Suffolk said the move was in line with Department of Health guidance, which states primary care trusts will commission rather than provide community services.

Paul Forden, managing director, acute and community services for Serco, said: "We believe we have created an exciting and visionary delivery model for Suffolk community health by ensuring the patient is at the heart of the service and empowering clinicians to spend more time caring. Our integrated model of care is possible by bringing together the best of the NHS, voluntary and private sector."

Healthy cook book is free

HARD-PRESSED families in Haverhill can tap into new ways of saving cash on food – and avoid tempting luxury treats.

As part of its healthy eating campaign for spring, Live Well Suffolk has published a free Eat Well, Live Well cook book, which offers tips on planning low cost meals and avoiding temptations when shopping.

There are more than 20 recipes for healthy breakfasts, lunches, dinners, desserts and snacks and all the recipes are also available to download individually online at www.livewellsuffolk.org.uk

The cook book was collated by dietitians Karen Davies and Heather Osborn.

House prices creep up

HOUSE prices in East Anglia have recorded their first monthly rise in more than 18 months due to growing demand from buyers and a lack of homes on the market. Prices rose by 0.1 per cent in East Anglia in March and 0.2 per cent nationally, says property analyst Hometrack. Hometrack said 93 per cent of the asking price was being achieved on average.

Children become pizza chefs

CHILDREN decorated their own pizzas and made themselves fruity cocktails on a visit to a restaurant.

Youngsters from the Stepping Stones playgroup in Haverhill went along to Frankie & Benny's, where they decorated their pizzas before having them cooked, enjoyed some colouring while they were waiting – and met mascot Sketch the dog.

A group of 48 children took part in the end of term fun day and staff members were complimented on how well the children behaved.

All the children left with a pizza-making certificate, a school pack and a balloon. They then went on to visit Kid City at the nearby leisure centre.

Ros Elsworth, area marketing co-ordinator for Frankie & Benny's, said that this was the first school visit they had done at the Haverhill restaurant, but was hopeful that there would be more in the future.

Frankie & Benny's also donated an Easter egg for every child who took part in the Easter egg hunt at the Stepping Stones premises at Coupsals School.

Change your friends, judge tells man, 20

A MAN arrested after climbing on to a shop roof in the early hours of the morning and swearing at police officers has been fined £180 by magistrates.

Bruno De Lima, 20, admitted a charge of being drunk and disorderly in High Street, Haverhill, on March 17, at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, April 3.

Ros Keppleman, prosecuting, said police were called to the High Street at around 2am, following reports two men had been seen on a roof, throwing down pieces of metal.

De Lima, of Hundon Place, Haverhill, had sworn at the police and made obscene comments and gestures about what he said he would like to do to one officer's mother.

Chairman of the magistrates Tina Baker told him: "This is not good behaviour. Would you like that said about your mother?"

"You need to change your friends and stop your drinking. At 20, you have not got the best record of previous convictions already. If you carry on drinking, you are going to go only one way, which is downstairs, so stop it. Take this as a warning lesson."

De Lima was also ordered to pay £85 costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

Bra-vo: Members of the Slimming World class who will be taking part in the Moonwalk.

High hopes for Moonwalk team

A GROUP of women – and three men – have been decorating their bras ready to take part in the Moonwalk in London in May.

Tania Watson, who runs Slimming World classes at the New Croft in Haverhill, will be taking part in the event for the fourth time on May 12, but this year she will be joined by 25 of her members.

As well as training for the walk, they are also organising fundraising events, including a free entry pamper evening night at the Cheeky Chimps Funhouse in Boundary Road at 7.30pm on Friday, March 23.

There will also be a disco on April 14 and a fun day at Haverhill Rovers' ground on May 6.

The ages of the group taking part range from 20 to 60, including three men, and it is hoped to raise as much money as possible for the breast cancer charity.

Police link four arson attacks and up patrols

POLICE are stepping up patrols after four arson attacks in three months, which they believed are linked.

On January 1, a domestic bin was set alight at Clements Lane, which also damaged a fence nearby.

At Cornwallis Close on March 18, a car was set alight and the blaze spread to and destroyed two other vehicles.

At around 4.15am on the same day, another vehicle was set on fire in Gloucester Road. Then on April 1, at Harewood Terrace, a wheelie bin was set on fire and this spread to damage nearby vehicles.

Inspector Peter Ferrie of Haverhill Police said all had been fierce fires and it was believed some kind of accelerant had been used.

He added: "I am linking them because being very close in area and also the times that they happened have all been on Saturday night to Sunday morning, between 3am and 5am. It would be very unusual if they were not linked."

"We are putting on extra foot patrols up there between Saturday night and Sunday morning to see if we can catch anyone with a jerry can and a box of matches."

"If anyone has seen people acting suspiciously or has witnessed someone starting a fire, we would ask them to call us on 101 or anonymously on Crimestoppers 0800 555 111."

Albert Square to Hollywood

BY ALICE RYAN

WHEN I was given the choice of interviewing either Anita Dobson or Greta Scacchi – ahead of their acclaimed two-hander, Bette and Joan, coming to Cambridge – there was no hesitation: it had to be Anita.

I've loved her since her days as the fabulously drunken Angie Watts: throughout the late 80s, my whole family was addicted to EastEnders – and Ange was a huge part of the soap's appeal.

I liked her single Anyone Can Fall In Love (sung to the EastEnders theme tune – you remember the one) so much that I learned the words and sang it to myself in the mirror, hairbrush in hand. (I was only 7. So that's OK then.)

When I actually get to speak to Anita, she's in the back of a car on a mobile with dodgy signal. We get cut off a couple of times, but she keeps calling me back, undeterred and uncomplaining.

Penned by Anton Burge, Bette and Joan is set in the early Sixties. Two of the silver screen's greatest leading ladies, Bette Davis (Scacchi) and Joan Crawford (Dobson), are now has-beens, having been upstaged by a new brand of blonde bombshell movie star. And then they are offered a golden opportunity: playing opposite each other in the dark and brilliant Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?, now an undisputed classic. While all appeared seamless on-screen, behind the scenes the actresses were at war. And it's this part of the story – their mutual loathing – that Burge tells in Bette and Joan.

"I just had an instinct about this part. I love them both: Bette and Joan," says Anita. "I've always loved Hollywood's golden era: Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, Vivien Leigh, Rita Hayworth . . .

"I grew up watching their black and white movies on a Sunday afternoon: I cried through them, laughed through them, danced through them."

When it opened in the West End last year, Bette and Joan won rave reviews: described variously as camp, kitsch and deliciously bitchy, critics agreed the show was the perfect vehicle for Anita and Greta's talents. The Daily Express declared it 'a scorching performance'; the Daily Telegraph feted Anita as 'wickedly funny'.

"It's a fantastic part," Anita laughs. "You can't really believe that two actresses would stoop so low! In the film, Bette's character has to lift Joan's out of bed – so Joan wore a lead-weighted belt for that scene, which put Bette's back out."

"Bette Davis was very confrontational; she spoke her mind. She was vile to Joan, and undermining about her career: Joan didn't have acting lessons, she learned everything on screen, so Bette never felt she'd done it the proper way.

"Joan was refined, so when it came to payback for Bette, she resorted to subterfuge. Joan is so different from me, not the same animal at all. She's certainly very complicated. But having researched her now, I sort of love the woman."

As well as enjoying stage success, Anita returned to TV last year to take part in Strictly Come Dancing and she's just finished the Strictly live tour.

"I'd always wondered what it would have been like to have trained as a dancer," she says. "If I didn't give it a go, I felt I'd always regret it."

Anita's husband, Queen legend Brian May, was less enthusiastic: "My family kind of thought 'Okaay . . . Brian probably found it quite hard. I just got lost in this world of Disneyland; I was in a happy little bubble for about five months."

"My dancing partner Robin Windsor was wonderful and we had so much fun. When we started training together I said, 'Please, please, make me good enough to go on the tour' – and we made it onto the tour!

"And the dresses . . . Oh, I loved the dresses. Every week I'd be given my outfit and I'd say 'This is my favourite!'"

But having come to fame in Albert Square, has she ever been tempted to return?

"I haven't ever wanted to go back, no. When Leslie (Dirty Den) and Letitia (Sharon) returned, it was great for them – and great for the show. But I wanted to do lots of different things: that's what I thrive on."

She added: "When I got the part I was no chicken: I was already in my 30s. But I was young enough to use the springboard the show had given me and see what I could do."

"When I left I went back to the world I'd come from: the theatre. No-one in television would touch me, because as soon as the audience saw me they'd say, 'Oh look, it's Ange'."

"But the directors who knew me from before, who knew my CV, didn't think of me as Angie Watts and they very generously welcomed me back."

Anita's stage CV is impressive, encompassing everything from Shakespeare to the Calendar Girls and the Vagina Monologues. In 2003, she was nominated for an Olivier Award for her role in the National Theatre's Frozen.

At almost 63, has Anita no plans to slow down? "It's funny you say that. I did say to Brian about two years ago that I might semi-retire now I'm getting older, then suddenly all this fabulous work came in . . . I'm really, really lucky and deeply grateful."

Make a date with the Bikers

BOOK ahead because those Hairy Bikers are hitting the road for “an evening of laughter, high-jinks and just possibly a bit of cooking on the side” at Cambridge Corn Exchange on Friday, November 16. Audiences will be regaled with tales from their culinary expeditions – some hair-raising, many ridiculous and all of them shared in the Bikers’ inimitable style. From extraordinary culinary discoveries to some of the remarkable cooks and characters they’ve encountered along the way, Si and Dave will take you behind the cameras to discover what happens on tour as they circle the globe in search of food fuelled adventure. Each night of the tour will also feature a chance for lucky audience members to enjoy a meal cooked live on stage by the Hairy Bikers. Some special celebrity guests are lined up to join them on certain nights along the tour – so you never know who might be coming for dinner... Tickets are £25, available from (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

New songs to sing

BOO Hewerdine will be in Cambridge next week performing alongside Georgia-born guitar wizard Brooks Williams. Praised for his rich, atmospheric songs which reveal a natural impulse for storytelling, singer/songwriter Hewerdine is lead singer of indie legends The Bible, as well as an artist in his own right. His musical career began when, in his teens, Boo would serenade various local bands and artists with songs he’d written about them. Eventually, some ended up using the material he’d written and, realising that his music was being noticed, Boo went on to form The Bible in the mid-80s. Boo is constantly collaborating with other singers and songwriters, including recently Capercallie, the Trash Can Sinatras and Eddi Reader’s band, and this week hooks up with Williams to showcase the results of their efforts. Their aim was to capture the sound of two guitarists and singers from completely different backgrounds working together in harmony, and using vintage mics and equipment. The result was even better than they had hoped for and drew on material written last summer when their busy schedules allowed. Hewerdine has had his songs recorded by such artists as Eddi Reader, kd Lang, Jerry Douglas, Kris Drever and Heidi Talbot (more than 400 of his songs have been recorded). Over the course of 17 albums, Williams has secured a peerless reputation as a songwriter as well as being recognised as one of the world’s best guitarists. They found that they had a natural writing chemistry and material came in abundance – and plans are already afoot for a second album. ■ Boo Hewerdine and Brooks Williams, The Junction, tonight at 7pm. Tickets are £12 in advance. Contact (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk.

The big film

certificate 12A, 3hr 14m

JAMES Cameron’s mega-budget love story set aboard the doomed ocean liner was a phenomenon. Buoyed by the on-screen chemistry of Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet, Titanic sailed away with a record 11 Oscars and broke box office records. To coincide with the centenary of the ship’s ill-fated maiden voyage, Cameron has revisited his masterpiece and lovingly converted it to 3D. Cameron has been at the forefront of expanding the boundaries of the increasingly fashionable format. At multiplexes and IMAX cinemas he has created some truly immersive experiences that soften the blow of inflated ticket prices and the inevitable discomfort of wearing the spectacles. In the case of Titanic, that discomfort lasts for more than three hours but that’s no matter. We’re completely swept along by Cameron’s vision, which uses a fictional blue diamond necklace known as The Heart Of The Ocean as the narrative glue between the present and past. The film begins deep underwater with Brock Lovett (Bill Paxton) and his team of hi-tech treasure hunters scouring the submerged wreck. The search comes to nought until Brock meets 101-year-old survivor Rose DeWitt Bukater (Gloria Stuart). Staring transfixed at a sketch of her younger self, Rose recalls her burgeoning romance with spirited artist Jack Dawson (DiCaprio) aboard the luxury liner. Her jealous fiancé Cal Hockley (Billy Zane) schemes to drive a

But fate intervenes and passengers of all classes fight for their lives as the ship quickly takes on freezing water. Titanic 3D is a feast for the senses and the heart, recalling the epic storytelling of British director David Lean and co, and cements Cameron’s reputation as an action director par excellence but also as a master helmsman of delicately observed human drama.

Give your patio a summer sizzle

AS summer beckons, many gardeners will now be deciding which patio plants to feature in their scheme, but it's a difficult job as there's so much choice and plants can vary greatly in quality.

The perfect summer container plant should be long-flowering and disease-resistant. But many simply don't do that job.

To save you some of the bother of trial and error, Which?

Gardening, the Consumers' Association magazine, has now produced a report after growing more than 35 new varieties suited to containers or baskets before they were released to the public.

The plants, which were bought as plugs or young plugs last April, were grown in good quality container compost with added slow-release fertiliser.

The planted containers were kept in polytunnels until all risk of frost had passed and then brought out in June, watered and deadheaded as required.

Among the pick of the crop were

by Hannah Stephenson

Osteospermum Serenity series (Mr Fothergill's; Unwins), with its soft pastel or terracotta-toned flowers that mature to a deeper, warmer shade, and the Nemesia Lady series, a deliciously scented variety which looked great in mixed plantings with Calibrachoa 'Can-Can Rose Star' and Pelargonium 'Caliente Pink'.

The white Nemesia 'Sweet Lady' was the longest flowering of three highly scented varieties and still looked good in September.

For those interested in new basket plants, winners included Petunia 'Sanguna Atomic Blue', which brings drama to any arrangement, with its dark throated flowers with dark veins leading to a deep-mauve colour of the rounded petals.

It carried on flowering when other plants were waning, trailed well and didn't suffer from having all the flowers at the bottom of a curtain of green growth (B&Q; The Garden Centre Group; Homebase).

For a burst of yellow in a mixed planting basket, Bidens 'Solaire Semidouble' didn't disappoint, forming a dense trailing mat of fine foliage covered with hundreds of tiny, vibrant flowers that have an extra set of petals around the eye, forming a frilly collar. The plants grew well, flowered strongly all summer and were easy deadhead. (B&Q; garden centres)

Lovers of busy lizzies (Impatiens) whose plants succumbed to a widespread outbreak of downy mildew last summer may be better off growing alternatives such as the New Guinea-type hybrid impatiens or begonias, both of which will succeed in similar conditions, according to Which? Gardening.

Last year trialists grew several varieties of sunpatiens (a New Guinea hybrid), which all performed admirably and showed no signs of being affected.

The Sunpatiens Compact series

BLAZE OF COLOUR: Euphorbia griffithii 'Dexter', a perennial grown for its colourful massed stems and foliage that have attractive orange markings, as well as bright orange flowerheads.

were extremely vigorous, tolerant of both sun and shade and produced beautiful, vibrant flowers which required only a little tidying to stay looking pristine.

Of course, no summer planting scheme would be the same without the trusty lobelia – and Lobelia 'Super Star' lived up to its name, earning the accolade of the best lobelia in the trial.

This small-flowered, bicolor variety flowered prolifically, starting in June and continuing long after other lobelias had given up entirely.

A NEW survey of the UK's lowest depreciating cars puts the sporting Abarth 500 in the top three, bringing to fruition the brand's hard-fought strategy to build long-term value into its cars.

The findings, by valuation specialists CAP, and published in last week's Auto Express, put the 128mph pocket rocket in third place behind the Audi Q5 and Skoda Yeti, with an average resale value of 60.0 per cent of its list price, based on three years or 30,000 miles use.

It shows that Abarth's plan to hold off depreciation as much as possible is working. Since its launch in July 2008, the performance arm of Fiat Group Automobiles has quickly established itself as a desirable brand that people want to own and drive: not short-term nor highly discounted.

"Right from the start we had the plan to build in long-term value to the Abarth brand," says Ivan Gibson, head of Abarth in the UK. "A sustainable cost of ownership is something we have always been able to offer Abarth drivers, and add to that the fact that the Abarth 500 is a timeless and highly attractive car, it's no wonder that it has done so well."

Powered by a 1.4-litre 16-valve turbocharged engine, the Abarth 500 delivers a maximum 135bhp at 5,500rpm and has a peak torque of 206Nm (152 lb ft) at 3,000rpm, when 'Sport' mode is deployed.

Built to Euro 5 environmental standards the emissions of just 155g/km. The Abarth 500 range starts at £14,461.

Isuzu's D-Max is one superb pick-up

ISUZU UK has announced prices and specifications for the all-new Isuzu D-Max pick-up, ahead of its UK premiere at the Commercial Vehicle Show (April 24-26 at NEC, Birmingham).

On sale in June, the all-new Isuzu D-Max is powered by a highly fuel efficient 2.5-litre twin-turbo common rail diesel engine, available with newly-developed six-speed manual or five-speed automatic transmissions. This advanced Euro5-compliant unit generates 158bhp and peak torque output of 400Nm at 1,400rpm. The Isuzu D-Max also introduces a new 'shift-on-the-fly' system, allowing the driver to adjust between two- and four-wheel drive modes while travelling at up to 60mph.

The entry-level Isuzu D-Max, priced from £14,499 for the single cab 4x2 derivative, while the 'Eiger' double cab, from £18,499, includes projector headlamps, Bluetooth and iPod connectivity, 16-inch alloys and body-coloured bumpers.

The flagship 'Utah' model includes leather upholstery, heated front seats and automatic climate control and is priced from £21,499.

The Isuzu D-Max: From £14,499.

Stunning appeal of restyled 66mpg Citroen C1

THE newly restyled Citroën C1 goes on sale on April 2 with list prices starting from £7,995.

The range-topping 5-door VTR+, featuring Citroën's efficient Electronic Gearbox System with steering-mounted paddle controls, is priced at £10,545.

To celebrate the New C1's launch next month, Citroën has announced that all New C1 models attract a £1,000 Citroën Reward, meaning prices start from just £6,995. In addition, VTR models are available from just £99 per month with Elect 4 Personal Lease, including one year's free insurance for drivers aged 21-75. The free insurance offer is also available on VTR models funded with Elect 3 finance.

Appealing to a wide range of drivers, Citroën's New C1 delivers 65.7mpg on the combined cycle yet it is spacious enough for four adults with a plethora of storage compartments. Environmentally considerate, the New Citroën C1 boasts CO2 emissions from just 99g/km, making it exempt from the London congestion charge and first year VED.

As well as being the first Citroën petrol model to emit less than 100g/km of CO2, the

New Citroën C1 is well specified, even from the entry-level VT trim. VTR versions add daytime running LEDs, aircon and electric front windows. The VTR+ trim also includes 14-inch alloy wheels, Connecting Box (Bluetooth + USB socket), front fog lights, leather steering wheel and dark tinted windows.

Jones double keeps Rovers on boil

Haverhill Rov 3 Huntingdon Rowdies 0
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C

ROVERS extended their purple patch to six wins in seven games after two goals from man-of-the-match Morgan Jones.

However, they made an unusually slow start on the hard, bumpy surface, squandering chances and struggling to adapt to an efficient offside trap.

However, Jones broke the deadlock, firing home from the tireless James Sams' accurate pass, and he added his second as Rovers turned the screw at the start of the second half.

And they wrapped up the victory when Billy Jarves ploughed through two challenges and beat the keeper.

West Wrattling 4 Saffron Walden 5

Cambs Mini League, under-10A

A LAST-GASP goal in stoppage time sealed a nine-goal thriller in Saffron Walden's favour.

The visitors opened the scoring in the third minute but Jack Lisher had Wrattling back on level terms within five minutes.

Haverhill II 27 Thorpeness 38

Suffolk Merit League, Division Two

HAVERHILL matched the league leaders try for try for a while in a fast-paced, end-to-end game on a rock-hard pitch.

They started well but gifted Thorpeness a try and had to play catch-up with scores from Simon Lester (2), Keiron McDonagh and Darren Carew (2).

However, the visitors managed to gain the upper hand during a period when the game had to go to uncontested scrums when Haverhill lost prop George Self.

■ The seconds are also at home on Saturday when they have a re-arranged game against Felixstowe II (3pm).

>> UNDER-SEVEN

HAVERHILL bounced back from defeat in the opening match to win their three-game series against Bury St Edmunds.

Elijah Brandt, Harry Lawrence, Bradley Peachey and Oliver Garner scored the tries in the opening 30-20 reverse, while Haverhill shaded the second match 25-20, with Angus Duckworth, Kofi Brandt and Arun Varia touching down.

But they hit top gear in the final game, winning 40-25. Peachey scored four and both Mason Gillingham and Riley Brown scored twice.

from Ben Crouch and Nathan Johnson had the home side in front before Walden made it 3-2 at the break.

Charlie Heller restored the home side's two-goal lead soon after the restart but Walden were level by the 42nd minute, and after mounting late pressure, they grabbed the winner.

West Wrattling 3 Linton Aztecs 2

BM Kempton 9v9 League, under-12

WRATTING came from behind to secure a much-needed victory.

Although they started the brighter, they were stung when Aztecs scored with their first opening.

Keeper Charlie Mitchison was then called upon to make good saves either side of Daniel Cordwell equalising and Jayden Bayford hitting the post.

A looping cross from Keirnan Harding baffled the Linton keeper to make it 2-1, but Wrattling's game plan was disrupted when Rory Cameron was substituted after a clash of heads and keeper Mitchison had to be taken off.

However, Callum Cooley gave them a two-goal cushion before Aztecs grabbed their second in the last minute.

Maclean steps up London mission

CAROLINE Maclean has started a six-month sabbatical as she puts every ounce of energy into preparing for her fourth Paralympics.

She has swapped her job at St Edmundsbury Borough Council for an intense training routine to make sure she makes the 12-strong wheelchair basketball squad for London.

Haverhill-based Maclean says she is quietly confident of being selected, with the pool of players to be whittled down from 16 after the Paralympic World Cup in Manchester next month.

But she is unsure how many more Paralympic campaigns she has in her, and wants to give this one absolutely everything.

"Thinking this might be my last one, I thought it would be nice to get stuck in with training and not have to worry about working," said Maclean.

"I always think that if you win Paralympic gold you can't really get any higher than that, and that I wouldn't want to carry on. "But then I think that if we don't win it I would want to carry on to help the team do better. So I really don't know what the future holds, but hopefully I'll just know when the time comes." Great Britain automatically qualified as hosts, although they would have qualified anyway having finished third at last year's World Championships.

There have been some shocks in the qualification process, however, with China getting through and Japan, who beat Great Britain in the last eight at the Beijing Games, missing out.

"It can get a bit tense at this time of year, but that's inevitable," said Maclean. "We definitely want to win a medal and there's no reason why we can't win gold."

Daniels, Roope win on record day

SUPERB conditions produced excellent scores when Steve Ward and Doreen Darbey hosted their Captains' Drive-In at Haverhill.

A record number of entrants –152 – took part in the pairs, four-ball better-ball competition, which was played off full handicap and open to all sections of the club.

Tim Daniels and David Roope came out top with 47 points, beating Simon Cousins and Catie Heathfield, who nudged Andy Soffley and Trevor Stanley into third place on countback after both scored 45 points. The captains presented the trophies, with Ward congratulating Darbey as she embarks on her third term in office.

Other prizes went to: Best front nine – Andy Gage and Russell Gitty 25pts. Best back nine – Charlie Hudson and Richard Mansfield 25pts. Nearest the pin – Liam Merritt (juniors), Anna Fairhead (ladies), Len Adams (men). Longest drives – Karen Wilby, Glenn Norris.

■ Local knowledge proved pivotal as Haverhill progressed to the fourth round of the Mail on Sunday competition after beating Gog Magog, Cambridge.

In cold and windy conditions, the Cambridge side put up a good show in the early stages, but Haverhill took charge over the back nine to record a commanding 4½-½ win.

Details: (Haverhill names first): Bob Spittle halved John Bruce, Eamonn Bareham won 3&2 Gerald O'Keane; Andy Fish won 5&4 Nathan Jackson; Jack Bligh won 2&1 Dennis Edwards; Gerry Scott won 3&2 Rob Hardisty.

■ Haverhill's Sarah-Jane Barker and Alice Iron won 3&1 as the club staged the Suffolk Girls II clash against Cambs and Hunts. With the course in good condition and the greens fast, the match was halved.

Details: (Suffolk names first): Amy Bray, Francesca Tindall halved Chloe Ashman, Chloe Neal; Sarah Jane Barker & Alice Iron won 3&1 Jade Guest, Annabel Gibbins; Gabby Kenworthy, Charlie Woodage lost Jessica Gibbins, Lucy Dunkin 3&2.

■ Junior member Richard Boyles won the IFF Challenge final at Coupals Road, the event for all the divisional winners throughout the 2011-12 season. He fired 77-8-69 to finish clear of Patrick Bowes (94-23-71) and Stuart Haworth (91-19-72).

■ Haverhill members Lewis Whiting and James Higham will play for Suffolk under-14s a week on Sunday in their opening match of the season against Sussex. And Chris Vince, Richard Boyles, Lewis Whiting, Ellis Brown, James Higham and Hayden Durrant are all due to head to the Stoke by Nayland club for their junior open on Tuesday.

Winners all: Captains Doreen Darbey and Steve Ward (front) with all the prize winners from the Captain's Drive-In. CP

Building for the future

Betts starting to plan next season's squad

PETER Betts is looking ahead to next season as he steers Haverhill Rovers towards the end of a difficult campaign in the Ridgeons League, Premier Division.

Injuries and suspensions have deprived the Rovers boss of key players at crucial times and the club have been unable to build on last season's encouraging showing in the league.

But Betts is optimistic that the club can build a strong future and he is already casting an eye over several players with a view to retaining them for next season.

Haverhill Sports Association, the unofficial reserve team, have won promotion to the Premier Division of the Essex & Suffolk Border League, bringing them one step closer to the first team.

"It's really good news to have Haverhill Sports Association promoted," said Betts. "I'm thinking about next year now and am looking to bring some young players through. Then if we can bring some good quality players in to add to what we've already got we should be in a good position."

Rovers lost 3-1 at Brantham Athletic on Saturday, three late goals costing them victory.

Craig Calver put them in front in the first half but the hosts drew level in the 77th minute and then took the lead shortly afterwards.

As Rovers chased an equaliser, Brantham netted a third to complete the win.

Rovers will look to bounce back on Saturday when they travel to Felixstowe & Walton United. Dan Cornwell, Joe Harvey, Marcus Hunt and Paul Abbott, who all missed the defeat by Brantham, should return to the squad.

Rovers are then at home to Hadleigh on Easter Monday.

Weaver pounces to help HSA wrap up title

Maldon St Marys 0 Haverhill Sports Association 1
Essex and Suffolk Border League, Division One

HAVERHILL Sports Association have wrapped up the league title with games to spare. By ending second-placed Maldon St Mary's unbeaten home record, and with Coggeshall beating Earls Colne, HSA cannot be caught with three games to go.

It did not look as if the title would be decided on Maldon's artificial surface as HSA were without regular forwards Callum Harrison and Tom Marsh, while Ant Fernandez and Lewis Brown had completed moves to Ryman League Soham Town Rangers. But, after a cagey opening 25 minutes, the visitors were gifted the only goal when a defensive mistake allowed Ryan Weaver to hold off his marker and tuck his shot past the keeper. The Haverhill side dominated the rest of the half, and Weaver had an effort ruled out for offside soon after his innocuous foul on Maldon centre-half McCullem, who petulantly kicked the Haverhill player in front of the referee, who only cautioned the home player.

The home side's best spell came in the second half and 15 minutes from time they went close to equalising when James Robertson's attempted clearance hit Paul Hunt and rebounded off the post into the hands of keeper Liam Savage. But with Maldon pushing for a leveller, HSA played on the counter-attack and thought they had scored a second when Alex Westdijk broke clear and fired into the bottom corner. But the goal was ruled out for offside, although a home defender looked to be playing the HSA player inside.
